John,

Thanks.

We need the person's name and social security number. Also, we can use a single consolidated address for all of these entities, but if they would prefer to use particular addresses then I would need those addresses.

Regards,
Peter

John,

I confirm that we have formed 25 of the entities on the list (we tried to leave some room for any existing LLCs). The certificates of formation for the companies are coming back as we speak.

The next step would be to get EINs for the LLCs. However, we cannot do that until we know the owners of the LLCs as we need to indentify the responsible party for each entity on the application for a tax id number. Please let us know whether this has been decided upon so we can start to move that forward.

Regards,
Peter

Not yet. I assume most of them are available, but to the extent any are not we will come up with variations in the same manner.

Assuming that is acceptable we will start forming the companies, and come up with alternates names for any that are not available and form those.

Just confirm you are ready for us to start the formation process.

Peter
